

Jeff A.D. Martin is a soul-stirring, thought provoking, highly requested Professional Speaker, who has been using his platform to inspire people from around the world. Because of his passion for giving back and serving others, Jeff often stands in his own vulnerability and shares personal stories of perseverance and resilience. As a result of his relatability and willingness to be open, people from around the world have experienced life changing breakthroughs and discovered untapped greatness all because of Jeff.

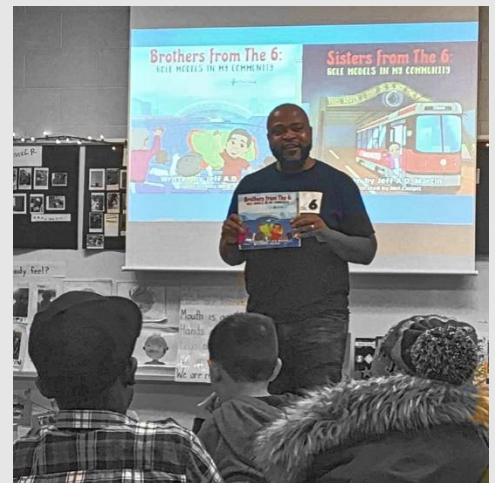

Much of Jeff's love for people can be attributed to his years of involvement as a community activist, a mentor and also to his 15 years of experience in law Enforcement. Jeff has worked as a police officer and in detective roles investigating criminal offences that range from homicides to sexual assaults. Jeff is a youth communication specialist, with over 1000 forensic interviews with children.

Jeff is an author of a critically acclaimed children's book, "Brothers from the 6/ Sisters from the 6: Role Models in my Community". 100% of the book's proceeds go towards Jeff's Toronto based, non-profit organization "Brothas from the 6", Jeff is also the co-author of "KNew Me", a personal development book geared toward men's issues.

Jeff is also an award-winning professional speaker. In 2019, he came in third in a well known, international speaking competition. One round shy of competing in the global championship round.

Jeff is also the host of the "Motivating from the 6" podcast. A globally downloaded personal development series that has received praise from blog sights from around the world, including as far as Japan.

With his career and life experiences, coupled with his benevolence and passion to inspire, Jeff A.D. Martin shares his gift of purpose in efforts to help others find their true potential.

Jeff A.D. Martin

Professional Speaker | Author | Coach

Social Media: @jeffadmartin

Website: jeffadmartin.com

Email: info@jeffadmartin.com